Morocco is located in the Maghreb region of North West Africa with an area of $710,850 \mathrm{~km}^{2}$. Its capital is Rabat and its largest city is Casablanca. Morocco has a coast by the Atlantic Ocean that reaches past the Strait of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean Sea. It is bordered by Spain to the north, Algeria to the east, and Western Sahara to the south.

Morocco's predominant religion is Islam, and its official languages are Arabic and Berber; the latter became an official language in 2011, and was the native language of Morocco before the Muslims arrival in the seventh century C.E. The Moroccan dialect of Arabic, referred to as Darija, and French are also widely spoken. Moroccan culture is a blend of Berber, Arab, Sephardi Jews, West African and European influences.

Tourism is one of the most important sectors in Moroccan economy. In 2017, more than 11 million tourists were attracted by Morocco. In 2010, new plans were lunched by the Moroccan government to make Morocco one of the top 20 tourist destinations in the world. Tourism is increasingly focused on Morocco's culture, such as its ancient cities and ancient Roman and Islamic sites, and on its landscape and cultural history. Agadir, Casablanca and Marrakech are very popular tourist destinations. The Majorelle botanical garden in Marrakech is a popular tourist attraction. It was bought by the fashion designer Yves SaintLaurent and Pierre Bergé in 1980.
