TEXT:
Sandra Fellici , from Italy , reflects on tradi	itional good manners for varied situations and discusses how fast manners are changing . She says :
"I'm filled with childhood memories. When I	I was five years old, my grandmother, who was the best grandmother in the world, lived with my family	y .At the time, my father had a business, and my mother used to help $\underline{\text{him}}$. That's why I had to stay all	day long with my grandmother. She was very kind and oyal to me. (§1)
Unfortunately, in our society today, what v	we call good manners, or good etiquette, are changing.
New generations are becoming more and more i	impolite. (§2)
When I was a child, I used to go out with m	ny parents. I used to stay close to them and behave in an educated way; but some kids nowadays make	e a lot of noise, go everywhere, and are less respectful towards adults. (§3)
In my language, we have two different ways	s of addressing people . One is the intimate second form that is generally used with family members, frie	ends and people of the same age; one is more formal, in which the third person is used to address people	e . I would use the formal way when I addressed elderly people or people I didn't know, but young	generations are now using the intimate second form everywhere and with everybody . (§4)
I think that this behaviour is due to globalizat	tion and to the use of the English language that has only one form, but I don't consider it polite and I can	nnot get used to these manners." (§5)
