

TEXT

When I was a child I used to believe that clowns were born clowns with a red nose, big feet, multi-coloured hair. I used to believe 100 was the biggest number. I thought that as intelligent means smart, there must also be a word « telligent » which means stupid! I used to believe that the primary school teachers sleep in the classroom cupboards because they were there before I arrived and after I left. When I first saw a black-white picture, I thought the world used to be black-and white and it changed before I was born. I used to believe that like chickens lay eggs, cows lay sausages . . . I used to believe that actors who die in the movie were really dead. I used to believe that I could control the weather by singing rain rain go away. I used to think all Chinese people were kung fu experts. I used to
