

The First Term English Language Test n°01

Reading.

A. Comprehension.

Read the passage below then do the activities that follow.

The internet plays an important role in the lives of people today. It is hard to find a house with no access to the internet and every day, more people are discovering the amazing possibilities which it gives us. But, with many advantages, there are also disadvantages to the internet.

First, every person uses the internet to do their daily tasks. It has made access to information easier. Besides, we can easily communicate and share information with other people around the world. However, the internet also has some disadvantages. For example, many people become addicted to spending time on the internet, like chatting with friends or playing games. In addition, a lot of information on the internet could be incorrect. So, it becomes difficult to select the correct information.

Finally, it can be said that the benefits of the internet are more than the disadvantages and threats it brings. The responsibility to be safe falls on the users themselves.
